Archival photos of labor strikes -- such as this laundry workers picket line -- personal reminiscences, and rousing labor songs make "Union Maids" an inspiring film tribute to women union organizers of the 30's. This compelling documentary study of a tumultuous period in the history of American labor will air over PBS Monday, November 21, at 9 p.m. ("Union Maids" will air over WNET/THIRTEEN, New York on Wednesday, November 23, 8 p.m. Please check your local PBS station for correct area broadcast time.)